If you make a mistake writing down a number PLEASE don't try to over-write the number. Draw a line thru the incorrect number and write the correct number down next to it. Many times I have a hard time trying to figure out what the number really is if you overwrite it. Thanks!

If you have an Email address but are not being notified each week when the stats are uploaded to our Web Site drop me a note at my Email address below and I will gladly add your name to my list. I keep trying to get everybody's Email address for the N.O.D.A. Names/Addresses file.

Did You Know...that I do not have the answers to all the ADO rules questions? Right now, most of you are laughing at this and thinking, well DUH! But this simple statement leads me into a rather deep discussion about rules. First off, not only do I not have all the answers, but after doing some lengthy research, I have discovered neither does the National ADO board! The scenario I will discuss in this article actually took place a couple of weeks ago in one of my matches. The lack of an immediate answer led me on one of the most exhaustive searches I have ever taken to find the correct answer to a simple ADO rules question, or so I thought.

Here is what happened. My team is at home and I am shooting 301 double in/double out. This means the other team is chalking. I shoot my first dart at a double 10. It is right on the wire, but I cannot tell if it is in or out. I ask the chalker what is shot. Note; you should always ask, "What is shot?", not "Is it in?" or "Is it a double/triple?". Why? Because if you're shooting at a double 10 and it's in the double 15, and you ask the chalker "is it a double?" technically the chalker should respond, "Yes!". This would be unsportsmanlike, but nonetheless, correct. Getting back onto the subject. The chalker replies "Double 10". I then shoot my next two darts at the triple 20. So far, this seems fairly straightforward. But, this is where it gets interesting. The first dart was OUT! Uh oh...now what? I did a quick search of the rules and could not find anything specific regarding this type of situation, so we defaulted to rule #1 "Good Sportsmanship will be the prevailing attitude throughout the tournament." (or in this case, league match). The other team let me rethrow the round and fortunately, I hit the double 10 on the first dart.

Now, we were able to work this out, but what does the ADO have to say about this specific situation? Well, as my 2-week inquiry has resulted in... nothing. That's right, this is one of those situations that falls between the cracks of the rules. I have consulted about 20 different people, from our league darters, to league board members, to other league darters; to some of the nations best darters, and even the ADO board itself. All of them have different opinions, of which they mainly fall into 2 categories. First, apply rule #1 (see above). The other opinion is to acknowledge that the chalker is the "official of the match" and what the chalker says, goes. Also, it is always the ultimate responsibility of the DARTER to verify his score (and for that matter, shot). Following that second opinion, the chalker should have marked my initial round as a "60 in" and continued the game. At the end of the game, if I won, it would be the right of my opponent to protest the game to the tournament director. At that point, the tournament director would need to make a ruling. This could be a problem, as different tournament directors may rule different on what should be done.

As a result of this incident, the National ADO board will be discussing this scenario (as well as others, I'm sure) in April. Hopefully in the near future, there will be a definitive answer. For now, these are my recommendations.

1. Trust the chalker's call.
2. If the chalker makes an error in the call, follow rule #1 (no matter which team is chalking), and retake all 3 darts.
3. All chalkers should carefully check where a dart has landed, IF AND ONLY IF, the thrower asks you to check. This may mean taking a step or two towards the board or even standing directly in front of the board to confirm. This is ok, as the thrower has asked you for a confirmation of the throw. The thrower needs to be patient with the chalker. After all, you weren't able to clearly tell what the shot was, so the chalker may not be able to see the throw clearly from their view either.
